MASTER OF COMMUNITY HEALTH (MCH)

(2 Years Programming)

JUSTIFICATION :

More than half a century has passed since India became an independent country. On the eve of Independence we dreamt of a universal healthcare system. As signatories to Alma Ata declaration, we have been vociferously standing by the Health for all goal and Primary Health care strategy. However health for all is a long way off. Rural health services for delivery of primary health care are still not fully achieved.

There are a lot of areas in the health care delivery system which cannot be handled with the help of the traditional medical technology approach that our health staff is equipped with. There is a clear mismatch between our needs for health manpower and educational infrastructure.

In the large number of our rural areas there is no effort at education of the people in simple aspects of preventive efforts knowledge of Hygiene, sanitation and purification of drinking, is either totally absent in rural areas or is totally inadequate. In the same way simple subjects like Nutrition are totally neglected. Similarly even where a doctor exists in a primary health centre, simple diagnostic tools like pathology test and X-Rays are not available.

There is therefore a need for persons who can perform these functions. They will be trained to perform basic health functions in the rural areas.

In view of the above considerations it is proposed to offer MCH course under the School of Social Infrastructure.
